Ethical Principles of a Vocational Goal

Objectives:
Upon completion of this webinar, participants will be able to:

Describe the key elements involved in selecting a vocational goal.

Examine the role of the Vocational Rehabilitation Counselor and the employment professional in the goal selection process.

Identify strategies to ensure application of the ethical principles when supporting a participant’s decision making process.
How did you know what you wanted to do?

Some know at a very young age, others drift for awhile before they find their niche.
Some complete school only to discover they do not like the field of study they have chosen.
Some seek guidance from counselors, family, teachers
Some never find their niche.
Ethical Principles of a Vocational Goal

Why is a good job match so important?

Positives for both employers/employees
• Job retention
• Job satisfaction
• Saves time and money

Relationship with the Employment Specialist
Ethical Principles of a Vocational Goal

What happens when there is not a good job match?

• High turnover
• Loss of confidence by the job seeker
• Depth of job search is reduced

Ethical Principles of a Vocational Goal

Describe the key elements involved in selecting a vocational goal.
Ethical Principles of a Vocational Goal

How do you get to know the job seekers skills and competencies?

“Honeymoon” period…everyone is on their best behavior in the beginning (job seekers and employers)

Spending time with the job seeker
Asking questions
Establishing likes/dislikes
Previous work history
Ethical Principles of a Vocational Goal

Homework – assigning work to a job seeker tends to show how dedicated they are to the search.

Schedule meetings – allows the opportunity to evaluate the ability to keep appointments.

Getting to know them is important to learning who they are and what they are looking for.
Ethical Principles of a Vocational Goal

Employment Conditions – for VR services these are established at the planning meeting

• Minimum/maximum hours per week
• Minimum/maximum hours per shift
• Days available to work (include weekends)
• Earnings – minimum or maximum: must make at least minimum wage. SSA benefits consideration
Ethical Principles of a Vocational Goal

Employment Conditions (con’t)

• Distance and time willing to travel
• Transportation – probably one of the biggest barriers associated with finding someone a job. Verify what/who/where/when in regards to the transportation.
• Accommodations: Days off, holidays, breaks, computer training, scheduled work breaks, Assistive technology, safety features, child/elder care, religious observances.
Ethical Principles of a Vocational Goal

Ask for clarification for all employment conditions established.
Ask what types of employment the person is interested in.
Ask where they do not want to work.
Ask what is a “deal breaker” is for them.
Ask if anyone has to be consulted about where they will work.
Ensure to include their legal guardian if they have one.
Job Analysis is critical for a successful placement!

Systematically studying and recording the tasks, interactions, and methods of performing the job.

Includes any equipment needed to complete the job, safety requirements, special training/education requirements.

Often includes critical components of the job

Analyzing supports and corporate culture
Ethical Principles of a Vocational Goal

Job Descriptions vs Job Tasks

• Administrative assistant, manager, administrator

• Answering multiple phone lines, filing documentation into virtual and non-virtual systems, coordinating office meetings, responsible for company credit cards, creates and modifies documents using Microsoft Word, receiving and directing visitors.
Ethical Principles of a Vocational Goal

Matching the job seeker to a description works the same way.
  Janitor = Knowledge, Skills, Abilities
  Baker = KSA’s
  Accountant = KSA’s
Entry level vs Experience
Training available
Working independently vs Working crew
Identify tools and assessments to help an individual find a potential job match.

There are many “surveys” available, no one is better than another.

One that provides information about the person’s likes/dislikes can provide a guide.
O*NET Interest Profiler

https://www.mynextmove.org/explore/ip

Welcome to the O*NET Interest Profiler!

The O*NET Interest Profiler can help you find out what your interests are and how they relate to the world of work. You can find out what you like to do.

The O*NET Interest Profiler helps you decide what kinds of careers you might want to explore.

On each screen, click the Next button at the bottom to continue. You can use the Back button at the bottom to re-read the instructions or change your answers.
O*NET Interest Profiler

How it works:

The O*NET Interest Profiler has 60 questions about work activities that some people do on their jobs.

Read each question carefully and decide how you would feel about doing each type of work:

- = Strongly Dislike
- = Dislike
- = Unsure
- = Like
- = Strongly Like

Try NOT to think about:

- If you have enough education or training to do the work; or
- How much money you would make doing the work.

Just think about if you would like or dislike doing the work.

There are no right or wrong answers!

Please take your time answering the questions. There is no need to rush!

You are learning about your interests, so that you can explore work you might like and find rewarding!
O*NET Interest Profiler

Tasks are identified and the job seeker “rates” them.

O*Net Interest Profiler

Interests

Preferences for work environments and outcomes.

- Realistic — Realistic occupations frequently involve work activities that include practical, hands-on problems and solutions. They often deal with plants, animals, and real-world materials like wood, tools, and machinery. Many of the occupations require working outside, and do not involve a lot of paperwork or working closely with others.

- Investigative — Investigative occupations frequently involve working with ideas, and require an extensive amount of thinking. These occupations can involve searching for facts and figuring out problems mentally.

- Artistic — Artistic occupations frequently involve working with forms, designs and patterns. They often require self-expression and the work can be done without following a clear set of rules.

- Social — Social occupations frequently involve working with, communicating with, and teaching people. These occupations often involve helping or providing service to others.

- Enterprising — Enterprising occupations frequently involve starting up and carrying out projects. These occupations can involve leading people and making many decisions. Sometimes they require risk taking and often deal with business.

- Conventional — Conventional occupations frequently involve following set procedures and routines. These occupations can include working with data and details more than with ideas. Usually there is a clear line of authority to follow.
Here are your Interest Profiler results!

Think of your interests as work you like to do.

Your internal ethical “compass”.

Personal Beliefs/Morals - good/bad action, right/wrong of an action

Culture - What is important to us and why?; of value
Influenced by our cultural beliefs, background, experiences

Religion – need to be aware of this

Using the words: struggling with, confined to, bound to, or putting the condition first instead of the person should be avoided.
Ethical Principles of a Vocational Goal

Using People First Language
Sign of Respect
Avoids labels
Reduces Barriers
Avoids negative stereotypes

Acknowledges what the person has and recognizes that a person is not a disability.
Ethical Principles of a Vocational Goal

Employer Objections – comments, concerns, objections raised by employers to deter a person with a disability applying for or seeking out a certain job. Some statements may be:

"They can't work (keep up, have the stamina, etc.) because they are disabled."

"what is wrong with her?" or

"are you sure she can do that?"

The employment professional needs to be ready to counter here, keep their cool and start a conversation.

</tbody>
</table>
Ethical Principles of a Vocational Goal

Keys to the Feel-Felt-Found

“Feel” – Empathize with them. Let them know you understand how they feel.

“Felt” – Let them know others have felt the same way. They are not the only ones.

“Found” – Let them know what the others found afterwards. It wasn’t so bad.
Ethical Principles of a Vocational Goal

More Strategies

Maintaining confidentiality

Having honest, direct conversations about what, if anything they want disclosed and to whom.

Wayne (con’t)
Stress management is very important, when stressed he acknowledges he tends to isolate, which has lead to negative behaviors in the past.
He uses an organizer on his smart phone to keep track of his Dr. appointments, medications and daily “to-do” lists. He enjoys the “routine” of work and is looking forward obtaining stable work.
Wants to be able to live independently. (move from parents house)
Ethical Principles of a Vocational Goal

Wayne completes the O*NET Interest Profiler.

The interest profiler is able to generate job zones using little to no job preparation up to and including extensive job preparation.

Each category is clearly defined to allow the participant the opportunity to match the zone to their current experience, education and what they may have in the future.
